A runner is in jeopardy of being called out if after dislodging a base the runner attempts to continue to the next base. Managers should inform their players of Breakaway Bases.
7. DOUBLE FIRST BASES - A Double First Base is used at all fields for safety reasons. The white portion of the base is fair, the orange part is foul. If there is a play on the batter/runner the fielder uses the white part and the runner uses the orange part.
- Exception: If the ball is thrown from the foul side of first base line, or when an errant throw pulls the defensive player into foul ground.
  - If the batter/runner collides with a fielder about to catch a thrown ball while on the white base, interference is ruled, the ball is dead, the batter/runner is out and all other runners are returned to the last base touched at the time of the interference.
  - Once the batter/runner passes first base he/she may return to either the white or orange part as this is now considered one base with two colors.
